are; they act mildly on the bowds, strengthe tomach, and promote a healthy action of the brace the next experience of the process of th and palpitation of the heart.

Weakness and bebilityof debility, languor, and nervousness gen excess of any kind, whether mental or phy effect of these Pills is in the highest degre estimates and restorative. They driv ne system the morbid cause of discase; recthe digestion, regulate all the secretions, brace vous system, raise the puttents spirits, and crease the appetite, while they secure perfecinto all ordinary food, and release the invalid straint in diet.

A Word to Females.

There are two periods, especially in Woman's life, which require for safe passage, judgment and attention. Irregularity is apt at those critical times to take place, and to lay the foundation of future discase. These Pills, safe in action, and effective in result, should be taken at certain periods, and the issue will be marvellous both to the young and the middle aged. The properties of the properties

Crughs, Colds, and Asthmas, nult will be marvellous.

Blood t the Head—Diseases of the Heart.

More persons die suddenly from diseases of the heart than the unlearned suppose: in such com plaints, the bowels should always be kept well open, as also where there is a tendency of blood to the head. These celebrated Fills purify the blood in an extraordinary manner, and should be taken in copi head. These celebrated Fills purify the blood in an extraordinary manner, and should be taken in copi ous doses when such symptoms occur, taking care not to overload the stomach; by this means all dan ger is quickly averted.

Children's Complaints.

It is not generally known, but such is the fact, thachildren require medicine oftener than their parents. Three-fourths of the children die before they attain the age of eight years. Let mothers, then, be wise and give to their children small doses of these invaluable Fills once or twice every week, it such quantity as may act gently upon the system twice in the wenty-four hours. For infants, a 1711 may be crush; ed and given as a powder in a little water. The gross humors that are constantly douting about in the blood of children, the forerunners of so many comaints, will thus be expelled, and the lives of thou sands saved and preserved to their parents.

FACTS AND POSSIBILITIES. It never reigns but it pours would seem to be verified by the news lately received from Home affecting these colonies. We have certainly had sufficient to afford food for speculation for some time to come. No only is this the case with reference to the governmental changes indicated as about to take place ere long in these colonies, but also in relation to the vast enterprise affecting the whole of British North America projected by the successors of the Company of fur traders that have so long held sway over tho destinies of so large a portion of this vast continent. Coming singly these events would be remarkable, coming together it is difficult to analize the sensations they produce. Not withstanding we are more immediately affected by those changes which bear upon the government of these colonies, we are as a whole almost equally interested in the course of conduct to be pursued by the " Company's" successors. The grand scheme proposed by them for opening up the vast territory lying between Canada and British Columbia by a trans-continental wagon road and telegraph line, with the ultimate view of constructing railway, will, most likely, before long be submitted to us, to find what part we are willing IRON METALS, HARDWARE, &c. to take in assisting the enterprise, as it will also be submitted to the Parliament of Canada. It will become, therefore, a question for us to ponder well upon in the meantime. What aid are these colonies prepared to afford to this company of capitalists, the successors of an institution of which we have had so many causes to complain? And upon what conditions will Canada add to the weight of her already overburdened finances? She wants the road and telegraph, so do we in quite as great a degree. Both of us desire to see all of the available territory between the two oceans occupied by an industrious and thrifty population who shall redeem from the rude power of nature the vast wilderness of which most of it is composed. We all desire to see the land tilled, the mines worked, trade and commerce flourish. In a word, we are in favor of its attaining the highest industria development it is capable of, and to this end we are willing to go as far as our resources and means allow; but are we and is Canada prepared to go the length of perpetuating a huge fraud upon the rights of Britons on this continent in aid of any body proposing to effect so much possible good? The Hudson Bay Company was in many respects a monopoly of the worst kind, and exercised powers to which it had not a shadow of right. The right of exclusive trade, the uncontrolled disposal of land, are some of the powers which the new company may seek to exercise by right of purchase. Can we sanction these? Can progress, can accession of population and healthy development of the country take place under such conditions? We should be disposed to think not. We should be inclined to hold that any enterprise conducted where such a reign prevails would be a failure, and that those who should guarantee the interest on the capital of a road built through a territory subject to such conditions, would be called upon to pay that guarantee without receiving any adequate return. The company presided over by Sir Edmund Walker Head, and which draws its support from the International Society, must expect no encouragement as a monopoly of the old style. The monopoly they may claim and the one under which they will succeed is that of capital. They have money-let them turn it to advantage in a fair way. Let them not claim to be sovereigns of the territory which is to be the principle scene of their operations. This will not be tolerated on this continent, though we do not think the experiment is likely to be repeated. It has not worked well during the past.

The system of granting lands in aid and encouragement of a great public undertaking such as a railroad has been found to work well amoung our neighbors the Americans and would no doubt do so in Central British America under proper conditions, such as compulsory sale to actual settlers. All these matters are essential to the success of an interoceanic road, and are to be taken into consideration by those who are called upon to assist in such an undertaking.

IMPORTANT SUMMARY.—The San Francisco Alta thus sums up the news received by the Sierra Nevada from Vistoria. "Lieutenant Governor Moody has left New Westminster and gone to Victoria, to remain until the mosquito season shall have passed." The mentions that the bag containing the exchange papers for the press of San Francisco was accidentally lost in the Bay by the marine reporter, and therefore offers a quasi apology for the scanty news from this quarter contained in its columns. An apology was certainly needed.

TREASURE TROVE.—On Saturday a seaman named Charles Dove was brought before Mr. Pemberton charged with stealing $1,200, which had been deposited by a person named Duchesne for safe keeping on Beacon Hill, and remanded until this morning. It appears that three of Dove's chums have been arrested upon suspicion of being concerned in this 'jumping' business, and will appear with Dove this morning in the police court.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

RICHFIELD, August 7, 1863. "In the hands of men entirely great, the pen is mightier than the sword" is a truth which has grown into an axiom. Balwer Lytton fully understood its force when he made Richlien, his great master-piece, utter Lytton fully understood its force when he made Richlieu, his great master-piece, utter such words. Unfortunately for plain Mediocrity, the phrase is inversely true also. The pen is but a serry weapon when wielded by inexperience, or clogged in its halting progress by the want of ability to use it efficiently. The reader in such a case fails to discover the maint of an intended engran or discover the point of an intended epigram or the humor of a joke, either abortive from want of maturity, or from as frequent a cause overstrained labour. Knowing this much (though another express has arrived, which is my excuse for a letter), one dreads to tempt his faith by triving an expression of the individual. fate by trying an experiment often indulged in by "Our Special," by writing upon nothing (for I had thought that news was exhausted considerable start, and was likely to be of the

(for I had thought that news was exhausted when I last wrote), in allowing "the pen still to move on " and indulge in either its facts or its fancies or in both. But fortunately for him, who is placed in such an awkward position, powers of vaticination are witheld from mankind, wisely, it is said, lest the future should lose its charm by unveiling it. The morrow brings forth its little story; " and to-morrow, and to-morrow. I know not what." The facts of an hour ago are equally with those of yesterday, facts of the past. In this respect, in Cariboo at least, each of them deserve the like attention, and the former must not envy the latter, for they too will must not envy the latter, for they too will soon be hurried by fleeting time into oblivion. soch be hurried by fleeting time into oblivion. Let me, therefore, think awhile, not as to what I have written, but as to what I have forgotten. First then, I omitted to tell the story of a Pic-nic at Jack-of-Clubs lake. Human prescience is notoriously limited, and hence the greatest as well as the smallest undertakings die almost in their inception or a limine. Wright's wagon road is completed to Fort Alexander, being 197 miles and 28 chains from Lillooct. The distance, in the first instance, was roughly estimated by Mr. Wright to be 200 miles—a very good guess. The road is a most excellent one, and its quality, as well as the dispatch with which it has been constructed, reflect great credit.

Every preparation was made, and no lack of material provided for the projected frolic. Orpheus too, in the person of a gentleman, has been constructed, reflect great credit. Corpheus too, in the person of a gentleman, expressly engaged for the occasion, was proposed for the projected frolic type of the person of th roys rous 50 miles over this road in one day—finished. When both of these roads are completed they will greatly facilitate both transit and locomotion to the mines.

second reading of this Bill, said its provisions were stimple and few, and tequired very little explanation, but a wish had been expressed that he should give some further information as to an extension of the means of communication across that great interval of country between British Columbia and Canada. He harged layer to say a few words upon the egged leave to say a few words upon the resent condition of British Columbia and present condition of British Columbia and Vancouver Island, because on their prosperity depended very much what had been so long desired and was so nearly accomplished. An impression prevailed that, whatever was the case with regard to British Columbia, Vancouver Island hever had been the case until recently, Vancouver Island had now taken a considerable start and was likely to he of the

a given day, which, he believed, was yesterday. Of course the intending purchasers could not carry out that transaction in the course of a week, and they therefore applied to the International Financial Association to assist them. The Association agreed to do so, and the money either had been paid, or would be ready on a day arranged upon. The report that they intended to become the proprietors of the shares of the Hudson Bay Company, originated, no doubt, out of this negotiation; but to do so was, he believed, duite foreign to the principle on which the greatest importance to this empire in future years. Practically this Colony was founded as lately as 1849, and during the earlier years since that date it was under the management of the Hudson's Bay Company and made no material progress. Five years ago the charter of the company expired, but it was only in the present year that the last payment. only in the present year that the last payment only in the present year that the last payment was made to the company on the proprietorship being resumed by the Crown. There were great complaints from certain parties of the present system of Government, both in Vancouver Island and British Columbia. In Vancouver Island the Government established in 1849 was composed of a Governor, a Legislative Council, and a House of Representatives. The number of Representatives was only seven, and very recently the Cown. was only seven, and very recently the Cown had been advised to increase that number to had been advised to increase that number to 15, and to grant an Executive Council. During the last two years the Island had made very considerable progress. In 1861 the shipping entered was 101,721 tons and in 1862 it had increased to 199,000 tons. The imports in value were in 1861 $2,335,000, and in 1862 they had increased to $3,555,000. An idea provided that this increase in property England, but he found that the imports from England alone were in 1861 $516,000, and in 1862 $694,000, being an increase of or whether they proved harder of heart and more frigid from constant cold treatment than the latter, I am unable to say. But this I can say, that Orpheus went out to the lake to play his part and see the fun. which cording to a written. conclusive as to trede, was that the imports from the control of the control of trede, was that the imports from the countries was of more than 300 per cent, whilst the increase of more than 300 per cent, whilst the increase of imports from other countries was only 63 per cent. He might say, further, that increase of imports from other countries was only 63 per cent. He might say, further, that the merchants were beginning to store goods at Victoria instead of San Francisco, and ally, growing Admiralty establishment. The progress of British Columbia was almost without example. The Colony was established four years ago, and already it was self supporting, and would not appear again in the service of their share-holders, he was sure they would be actuated by statesmalike views. No negotiation with the Colonial Office had aken place, and, as this was a mere ordinary transfer, no leave on their part was necessary. But arrangements must be entered into with 1861 were in value $1,414,000, had reached, the country, and at some future time it would be a like on place, and as this settlement of the country, and at some future time it would be a like of the country, and at some future time it would be a like of the country, and at some future time it would be a like of the first onset of the fi now amounted to £100,000, with every prospect of an increase. A thousand miles of roads had recently been opened, the tolks of which last year produced £10,000, and were expected to produce £20,009 next year. When the system of roads we completed up the Fraser River there would then be communication with the Rocky Mountains at a going where it was not difficult to gross them. time. But since then very large gold dis-tricts had been discovered north of that Iricis had been discovered north of that boundary, and it was necessary to have some laws there, and a magistrate to enforce them. It was now proposed, therefore, to add that district to the Colony of British Columbia. Another object was to continue the existing Act to the close of the year as a matter of precaution, though the moment the order in Council was promulgated the old form of averaging work would be seen and the new contract. point where it was not difficult to cross them, and whence the route to Canada was not so government would cease and the new on would come into force.

point where it was not difficult to cross them, and whence the route to Canada was not so difficult as was generally supposed. At present both colonies were governed by one Governor, under two different forms of Government. The right hon, gentleman who had preceded him was perfectly justified in establishing that system as an experiment, but in all respects it had not worked well, and there was no necessity of continuing it. The Governor, Mr. Douglas, had done immense service to the colonies, and if there had not been a man of his peculiar character and energy of mind in the position. British Columbia would probably not have attained its present state of presperity. Though he was now relieved it was only in the usual course; in fact he had been longer at Vancouver Island than the usual term. It was contemplated to confer on British Columbia a lorm of government which was thought would be adapted for the present to the peculiar population, in which, at present, the natives outnumbered both the settled and migratory whites. An The San Francisco Alta has the following on the subject of the order from the Washington Cabinet prohibiting the exportation of ive stock from the neighboring States to these ossessions : There has been some complaint about the prohibition of the exportation of cattle to Vancouver Island. The people of Victoria depend on Washington Territory for their beef, and the people of the Territory have no other market for it. Both sides are therefore sore at the prohibition; though as a matter of fact the order is evaded, for the exportation goes on, though with more expense to the exporter than if there were no prohibitory. both the settled and migratory whites. In order that those in the subject has as yet passed through the Canadian Parliament, because the Canadian Canadian Parliament, because the Canadian Legislature had been in something like a state of abeyance during the last year, and lately it had been dissolved; but the guarantee had been sanctioned by the Canadian Government, and there was very little doubt that it would receive the sanction of the Legislature. If it did not—which he by no means he apprehended—of course the whole thing would fall to the ground. A similar guarantee would be asked from British Columbia and Vancouver Island, and he had the assurance of the Governor that this colony was in a position to give such a guarantee. A complete intercolonial railway system had long been looked forward to by those interested in our North American provinces, and he hoped none of their lordships would be disposed to undervalue its immense importance. It would be impossible to overrate the importance to pany's possessions. After some negotiations, the alternative of permission for a transit was agreed upon. That conclusion having been arrived at, he did not know what it was that taised the whole question of sale again; but some fortnight or three weeks ago fresh negotiations were opened. Parties in the city proposed to the Hudson Bay Company proposed to the Hudson Bay Company to give them by way of purchase a sum of £1,500,000. What had appeared in the papers was that the rights of the Hudson Bay Company had been transferred to the international Financial Association. What had keep lace was this:—The Hudson Bay Company very prudently required that the mhoney should be paid down, and that the whole sum of £1,500,000 should be ready on a given day, which, he believed, was yesterday. negotiation; but to do so was, he believed, quite foreign to the principle or, which the Association carried on their business, as in such transactions they occupied only an intermediate position. A prospectus would be issued to-morrow morning, and the shares would be thrown upon the market to be taken up in the ordinary business way, upon the formation of companies. These shares would not remain in the hands of the association, but would pass to the proprietors as if they had bought their shares direct from the Hudson Bay Company. Of course, the company would only enjoy the rights which these shares carried, and no more. "They would, in fact, be a continuation of the company, but their efforts would be directed to the promotion of the settlement of the country, the development of the Sores, Ulcers, So Is secured to all who suffer pain, by the use RADWAY'S READY RELIEF. Dr. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. When the flame of life wanes and quivers from exhaustion, administer this famous restorative, It will once more become steady and strong. In the debility which follows violent fever; in diarrthe debility which follows violent lever; in marr horea, dysatery, dyspeptic complaints and cholic in the weakness consequent upon natural decay or resulting from free living or over exertion, an also in those painful and too much neglected ail ments to which ladies are exclusively subject, the Bitters never fail to give permanent relief.—Sole by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

Canada; and this seizure was followed by a general order prohibiting the exportation of arms and munitions of war. On the 13th of May last, a second order was issued to forbid the exportation of horses and mules—to Canada. On the 19th of May the Secratary of the Treasury issued a circular instructing the Coliectors to refuse clearances for "horses, mules, and live stock." This circular was sent to the Collector at Puget Sound. It was, no doubt, wise and prudent to prevent the exportation of horses to Canada. It was the contraction of horses to Canada, but the exportation of horses to Canada, but the exportation of horses to Canada.
